Introduction to Samantha's Pussycat Horoscope

For many of us, our pets are our best friends and constant, loyal companions. They are neither judgmental nor critical of our own personal individual traits and characters. They co-habit with us in a delicate balance of nature versus nurture that can, with a little help, be cultured to our mutual benefit in order to achieve a greater understanding and more meaningful relationship.

Like us, each 'friend' has a different personality and is special in their own individual way. Every one has a unique horoscope which can help to reflect their character traits, wants, needs, and the degree of harmony with which they are able to co-exist with each other and share our work or play times. Such an understanding helps us to seek ways to improve and accept our shared lives and to harmonize and channel our energies to mutual benefit.

Using a chart for the 'day' on which our pet is born we can make this knowledge work for us by gaining an understanding of each of their individual personalities and talents.

Since kittens and puppies are usually born in litters, it is often not possible to find out their exact 'time' of birth as few breeders document the sequence in which each individual is born and because of this, the Sun's sign is used as a basis for forming our pet's chart.

However, by using a chart based on the day on which our companion is born an incredible amount of information is available to help and guide us towards a happier and more rewarding friendship.

☉ SUN - Samantha's Vitality

The source of life in your pussycat is denoted by the Sun's position in her chart as this is the key to her true personality. The Sun radiates warmth, energy and spirit but is not always visible and this is the same with your pussycat. Like the sun she will wrap you in healing, loving warmth and bring light and energy into your life and heart. However, like a cloud briefly masking the Sun a different side to her can emerge. Once you have truly gained Samantha's trust and love the sunshine will always be yours but strangers will only see the glimpses she allows.

Sun in Scorpio - Eager

In Samantha you have a pussycat with a great deal of willpower that thrives on challenges. Samantha is a very determined intelligent cat who will focus on anything, and nothing, for hours on end. It could be you, a mouse, a bird, a shadow or something we can't see that's caught her eye. Remember, however, those silky soft velvet paws mask mini razor blades and just like the 'Scorpion' of her sign she can sting. Samantha is a very passionate pussycat especially about all things that matter to her and if this includes you she will enjoy her life to the full.

☾ MOON - Samantha's Instinctive Responses

The position of the Moon, in your pussycat Samantha's chart, is second only in importance to the position of the Sun in determining who she really is. The Moon represents Samantha's emotions, feelings and safety felt and needed by her. Remember pets have emotions like your own and you can enhance your relationship with Samantha by bonding with her, and by becoming acquainted with the way she feels as well as providing the appropriate care, understanding and security her innate nature suggests she needs.

Moon in Scorpio - Extrasensory

Samantha is so tuned into you and the world around her that you will find it hard to comprehend at times. Samantha is extremely sensitive and, while she's very adept at keeping her own emotions hidden, she will read yours better than you do yourself. If you're down or upset she will be on your lap, if you're cross she will try and coax you out of it and if you want time alone, she will disappear. Samantha is virtually telepathic but you will always be left wondering as to what is really going on within this sleek and mysterious pussycat.

♀ MERCURY - Samantha's Understanding

Mercury, the planet of communication, enables all forms of passing on information. For Samantha, it gives her the ability to send you messages using body language, actions, and of course vocally. It is important to be aware and receptive to the information Samantha gives you because the more you understand about this very complex and independent feline, the closer the bond you will have with her and the ensuing love you share will be very special and rewarding.

Mercury in Scorpio - Resolute

Samantha is a very intense cat and she is by nature suspicious of everybody and everything. Samantha has extremely strong powers of concentration and is focused onto finding the real root of everything she can. Suspicious of anything new her determination to make sense of it all may leave you feeling a little unimportant. Samantha is all about intuitive trust, as opposed to some of her more outgoing feline relatives. Samantha is born with a natural distrustful streak. Extremely sensitive, she is not a pussycat that will just 'fit in'; she needs the room to express in her own way how comfortable she is with the situation you have put her in. Samantha is reserved when it comes to people so will have to put plenty of time into this relationship to reap the rewards that are well worth waiting for.
